

Dear 5KP,

Date: 1st May 2020

It's that time of the week again when Ms Peerwani and I can share our exciting news with you. How has your week been? Well what a busy and thrilling week it has been with GOOGLE CLASSROOMS! Ms Peerwani has been in school this week and so has Mr. Prior, calling parents with queries about your learning. It is so lovely to see you engaging on GOOGLE CLASSROOMS and working hard on your activities. We know you are using the daily timetable to maximise learning and achieve your tasks. We regularly check how many of you are using TTRS, Bug Club, MyMaths and Accelerated Reader. Please look out for the reminder letters emailed to you in GOOGLE CLASSROOMS. Let's be at the top of the charts with our scores this week -COME ON 5KP!

As well as responding to you on Google Classrooms, I have been busy writing your reports, preparing lessons, keeping fit and having fun! Look at these delicious, mouth-watering cuisines I created! After looking at all the other teacher's cooking photos in the last newsletter, I was tempted to try some of my own. (Can you guess what these dishes are?)

Visit GOOGLE CLASSROOMS and bake with Kerry on the DT class page. Read about 'Cake Science' and have fun cooking with your family. Why not make your very own cookery book and as evidence, bring it to school?

Mrs Robin Bird is still around and I have been tracking her diligently but she hardly comes out and must be preparing to lay her eggs. I have not disturbed her at all as she does not want any predators. Well instead, I have observed this bird table in my garden and frequent visitors who came to peck their snacks. Can you guess which birds visited? Take a closer look. (Remember we learnt this in Biodiversity?)

I wonder if Ms Peerwani has finished learning her new song and guitar - I would love to hear her play and sing! If you had an opportunity, which instrument would you like to learn? I have always been passionate about music and as a hobby, play the harmonium, dolkhi (indian drum). I would really like to learn the guitar - maybe Ms Peerwani could teach me. Do any of your parents sing or play an instrument?

Hope you are keeping busy with other chores as well as learning online. I have managed to have a good old spring clean - as many of you would have done so too- and came across one of my favourite toy dolls! This was actually crotched by my Nan in the 1960's! Such clever skills and talent she had! I admire the way the beads have been sewn in. Have you ever tried needle-work or knitting? I was enthralled by Mrs Mcmenemy's cross-stitching in the last newsletter! Have you discovered any thing special whilst spring cleaning?

For those of you marking Ramamdan, Ms Peerwani and I wish you Ramadan Kareem. Enjoy this special time with your family and be kind and loving to each other.

Yours sincerely,

Mrs Bhambra & Ms Peerwani
